PRESS RELEASE

Weston International Capital Limited (“WICL”) Declares US$113.5 Million of Summary Judgment And US$120 Million of Global Mareva Freezing Order Is Having A Material Impact on J Trust Co., Ltd’s Stock Price (8508.T)

WICL Executives declares publicly today that their Supreme Court of Mauritius Summary Judgments in the amount of US$110.5 million (plus Statutory interest) as well as a Global Mareva Freezing Order for US$120 million of J Trust Co., Ltd (“J Trust”) and PT Bank JTrust Indonesia TBK (“Bank JTrust”) cash and assets is definitely “having an impact on J Trust” and Bank JTrust, contrary to recent declarations by the Board of Directors of J Trust that these Orders are not affecting them at all and “have had no impact”.

A Weston Spokesman said “J Trust’s common stock shareholders (TSE 8508.T) have seen US$300 million / Yen 37.35 billion wiped out of their market capitalization since May 29, 2015, the day Weston subsidiaries received a Summary Judgment in Mauritius for US$113.5 million (plus Statutory interest) for a total decline in Yen terms of 25.80% at the close of trading on August 10, 2015. J Trust stock traded at Yen 1,275 on May 29, 2015 and as low as Yen 946 today so it is more than misleading of J Trust to declare that J Trust shareholders are not looking at these losses while considering Weston lawsuit correlations”.

With over seventy-two (72) banks receiving the Global Freezing Mareva Order for US$120 million, it seems apparent that most reputable banks are adhering to the terms of the Mauritian Global Mareva Order. Global banks ignoring the Mauritian Global Mareva Order are doing so at their own risk. WICL is committed to litigating against Mareva Order offenders. Furthermore, there is a deliberate omission in today’s misleading J Trust’s Press Release as there is no mention at all of the US$120 million Global Mareva Freeze Order. In addition, J Trust and Bank JTrust have now chosen to ignore the Norwich Pharmacal Disclosure Orders, to declare the whereabouts of their cash, assets, securities and trusts accounts to the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Mauritius previously due on Friday August 7 2015. “Nobuyoshi Fujisawa, President and CEO and Mr. Nobiru Adachi, Representative Directors of J Trust should listen to their shareholders who are voting with their feet and legally elect to appear in the Supreme Court of Mauritius to defend themselves on the merits of these Summary Judgments and Mareva Order for US$120 million. J Trust’s shareholders are being harmed by Mr. Fujisawa’s legal strategy of refusing to recognise decisions rendered by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Mauritius, as a competent English Law Court, recognised by English Law jurisdictions globally”, said the Spokesman.

Today J Trust decided to file a lawsuit for a Declaratory Judgment denying that these WICL obligations exist and chose the Tokyo District Court as a judicial venue to attempt to overturn a Supreme Court of Mauritius Summary Judgment issued by its Chief Justice. “It seems to me that if they could defend themselves on the merits, they would come to Mauritius to do so. If they have no defense on the merits of a US$113.5 million Summary Judgment and a US$120 million Global Mareva Order, then the Japanese Courts can hear them explaining why they don’t owe the Weston subsidiaries US$79,545,580 in defaulted principal maturities of Convertible Bonds which they have reported in their Statutory Audited Financial Statements for eight (8) years as Senior Liabilities. From today’s Press Release by J Trust, it appears that they are admitting to owing other Weston subsidiaries US$18.36 million in defaulted Interbank Deposits, US$5.016 million in stolen Share Transfer Fees and US$8.53 in stolen Redemption Proceeds for Nomura International Plc issued Fund Linked Note Certificates of Deposit”, said the Spokesman.

“The Regulatory Authorities in Japan certainly appear to have recognised Weston’s 128 page Formal Complaint submitted on June 30, 2015 to the Tokyo Stock Exchange. WICL requested certain restrictions on J Trust and Nobuyoshi Fujisawa trading in J Trust’s stock and without that huge support, J Trust common stock has collapsed”, said the Spokesman.
